Around noon on 26 November 1953, six sedans occupied by officers wearing blue service color moved into the yard of the former Bundeserziehungsanstalt (State Boarding School), while five sedans with drivers wearing black-bordered blue epaulets had already been parked there. After about 10 minutes, 1 bus with about 14 officers wearing blue service color and 8 trucks covered with tarpaulins and fitted with benches, each truck occupied by about 20 officers with blue service color, arrived there. All of the officers entered the main building of the installation. A guide wearing red-bordered black epaulets was observed on the Baden-Traiskirchen road when the motor vehicles arrived. Two double sentries and one double sentry respectively, all wearing red-bordered black epaulets, patrolled the area around the Bundeserziehungsanstalt and in Traiskirchen. There were about twice as many field grade officers as company grade officers most of whom were captains.

All the motor vehicles were occupied by personnel wearing black-bordered blue epaulets, except for the jeep which carried personnel wearing red-bordered black and black-bordered blue epaulets.

Comment. The former Bundeserziehungsanstalt is believed to be occupied by the 45th Gds Mecz Regt. A large radio installation, probably assigned to the 45th Gds Mecz Regt, is also located there.
